

PDSE NEWSLETTER SPRING 2019

FREE ACCESS

As a part of Springer's marketing strategy, all articles in Postdigital Science and Education will be freely accessible online until the end of 2020.

SPECIAL ISSUES – CALL FOR PROPOSALS

In January 2019 we published the Call for Papers for Special Issue Lies, Bullshit and Fake News Online: Should We Be Worried? co-edited by Alison MacKenzie and Ibrar Bhatt from Queen's University, Belfast, UK. More information in Guest Editors' article Lies, Bullshit and Fake News: Some Epistemological Concerns. Articles submitted for this Call are now under review and will be published OnlineFirst as soon as complete.

We now have space for one more Special Issue with expected date of publishing in January 2021. If you would like to propose a Special Issue for PDSE, please get in touch.

POSTDIGITAL SCIENCE AND EDUCATION BOOK SERIES

We are now in final stages of preparation for the new Postdigital Science and Education book series. PDSE will fill the gap in the scholarly community as the first academic book series in education, and probably also in the humanities and the social sciences, with an explicit focus to postdigital themes and research approaches. More information about PDSE book series will be announced shortly. If you would like to propose a book for the PDSE book series, please get in touch.

CALL FOR BOOK CHAPTERS

The first book in PDSE book series is Beyond technology: online postgraduate education in a postdigital world edited by Tim Fawns, Gill Aitken and Derek Jones from University of Edinburgh. More information about the book can be found in their article Online learning as embodied, socially-meaningful experience and in the Call for Chapters.

EVENTS

Dialoguing 'Between the Posts': Post-socialist and post-/decolonial perspectives on domination, hierarchy and resistance in South-Eastern Europe, Belgrade, Serbia: Postdigital Science and Education will join this important discussion at the Faculty of Political Sciences, University of Belgrade, on 15 June 2019.

HEIR 2019, Wolverhampton, UK: Postdigital Science and Education will be presented at the Higher Education Institutional Research \(HEIR\) Conference 2019 on: "Measuring Excellence" in Higher Education: Approaches and their Impact on 11 -13 September 2019, at the City Centre Campus, University of Wolverhampton.

Thank you for your continuing support to Postdigital Science and Education community!

Petar Jandrić, Editor-in-Chief, and PDSE Editorial Team
